

ADMITTANCE
TO THE
NEW MEXICO STATE CAPITOL

Screening for Firearms

Per Legislative Council Policy No. 26, beginning on December 6, 2021, all firearms, including concealed handguns, explosives or other deadly weapons, are prohibited in the State Capitol with limited exceptions. Security staff will conduct the screening of members of the public entering the building. Magnetometers (or metal detectors) are placed at the public entrances.

Vaccination Requirement

A member of the public (individual) wishing to enter the State Capitol must provide a government-issued photo ID and adequate proof of being fully vaccinated (up-to-date on vaccination) against COVID-19 unless the individual qualifies for an exemption. For the purposes of this vaccination requirement policy, an individual will be considered fully vaccinated (up-to-date on vaccination) if the individual has completed the initial series and is not yet eligible for a booster or has received a booster when eligible. To be considered fully vaccinated (up-to-date on vaccination), an individual must show proof of having received:

- two Pfizer-BioNTech doses given at least 21 days apart and given within the past five months;
- two Moderna doses given at least 28 days apart and given within the past five months;
- one Johnson & Johnson/Janssen dose given within the past two months; or
- a booster after the five-month period following the Pfizer or Moderna series or a booster after the two-month period following the Johnson & Johnson dose.

An individual who claims to be fully vaccinated but cannot provide adequate proof will be advised to use the individual's personal electronic device to access www.vaxviewnm.org to obtain a record of that individual's vaccination record before entry is permitted into the State Capitol.

An individual may be exempt from the COVID-19 vaccination requirement if the individual has a documented qualifying medical condition, a disability-related condition or a sincerely held religious belief and provides adequate proof of a negative COVID-19 PCR test within the previous 48 hours. Rapid, antigen or home tests are not acceptable as proof of a negative COVID-19 test. To be eligible for an exemption due to:

- a qualifying medical condition, the individual must provide a statement from a physician, nurse practitioner or other medical professional licensed to practice in New Mexico stating that the individual qualifies for the exemption and indicating the probable duration of the individual's inability to receive the vaccination;
- a disability, the individual must provide documentation from a physician, nurse practitioner or other medical professional licensed in New Mexico stating that the individual has a disability that necessitates an accommodation and the probable duration of the need for the accommodation; or

- a sincerely held religious belief, the individual must provide a statement regarding the manner in which the administration of a COVID-19 vaccine conflicts with the religious observance, practice or belief of the individual.

If the screening process for the vaccination requirement determines that an individual entering the State Capitol has met the requirements for an exemption, the unvaccinated individual shall provide adequate proof that the individual has tested negative for COVID-19 based on a PCR test within 48 hours prior to entering the State Capitol.
