Tracking Number: .195305.1

Short Title: Tribal College Dual Credit Program Fund

Sponsor(s): Senator Michael S. Sanchez

Analyst: Travis Dulany

Date: January 30, 2014 (Revised)

Bill Summary:

SB 3 appropriates $500,000 from the General Fund to the Tribal College Dual Credit Program Fund for expenditure in FY 15 to compensate tribal colleges for foregone revenue due to tuition and fee waivers for high school students participating in the tribal college dual credit program.

Fiscal Impact:

$500,000 is appropriated from the General Fund to the fund for expenditure in FY 15. Unexpended or unencumbered funds revert at the end of FY 15.

Fiscal Issues:

New Mexico's dual credit program allows high school students to take courses offered through a postsecondary educational institution and earn credit at the high school level and the college level simultaneously. Statute governing the program provides that the:

- school district, charter school, state-supported school, or Bureau of Indian Education (BIE) high school is to pay the cost of the required textbooks and other courses supplies for the postsecondary course for which the student is enrolled;
- public postsecondary educational institution or tribal college that participates in a dual credit program must waive all general fees for dual credit courses; and
- Higher Education Department (HED) shall revise procedures in the higher education funding formula to address enrollments in dual credit courses to encourage institutions to waive tuition for high school students taking those courses.

Legislation that included tribal colleges and federal BIE high schools in the state's dual credit program was enacted in 2010 (Laws 2010, Chapter 36). While this legislation expanded the opportunities for participation in the dual credit program, it also created the need for new administrative procedures, particularly with regard to tuition reimbursement.

Statutorily and constitutionally established, state-supported higher education institutions receive reimbursement for their dual credit students through the higher education funding formula; however, because tribal colleges are not funded through the funding formula, a different method for reimbursing tribal colleges that waive tuition for dual credit students was necessary.

During the 2012 regular legislative session, legislation was enacted that created the Tribal College Dual Credit Program Fund (Laws 2012, Chapter 44), which was “to be used only to compensate tribal colleges for the tuition and fees waived” to allow high school students to attend tribal colleges pursuant to the dual credit program. Although the fund was created, no appropriation was made to the fund for FY 13.

Similar legislation was introduced in the 2013 legislative session, but did not pass; however, the General Appropriation Act of 2013 included $100,000 to the Policy Development and Institutional Financial Oversight program at HED “to implement the tribal college dual credit program.” According to HED, Dine College, Navajo Technical University, and the Institute of American Indian Arts, currently offer dual credit courses; the Southwestern Indian Polytechnic Institute will offer dual credit in academic year 2014-2015. HED reports that the department is receiving data from the tribal colleges that currently offer dual credit, but the cost of tuition reimbursement is not yet known.
