SUMMARY

Synopsis of HAGC Amendment

The House Agriculture and Water Resources Committee amendment to House Bill 591 makes technical corrections to the boundary description and specifies that Santa Ana pueblo reservation is not included as part of the northern boundary.

The amendment adds a temporary provision specifying that nothing in the boundary revision shall be construed to release a citizen or property from indebtedness owed on the effective date of the act.

Significant Issues

The temporary provision is necessary in that the southern boundaries of the authority are changed as a result of the annexation of a portion of Bernalillo county by Sandoval county. Citizens and property located within this area may owe assessments to the Albuquerque Metropolitan Flood Control Authority. This debt remains in effect until it is paid.

Synopsis of Original Bill

House Bill 591 revises the boundaries of the Southern Sandoval County Flood Control Authority to account for added area gained as a result of annexation of a portion of land previously within Bernalillo County and presently in Sandoval County. This bill also specifies the northern boundary more particularly to accurately define that no portion of the Santa Ana Indian reservation lies within the authority boundaries.

Significant Issues

The authority notes that when the initial survey was completed in 1989 mapping technology did not allow for the accuracy now available leading to some of the boundaries falling into areas not covered by the authority, HB 591 corrects these inaccuracies. In addition, Santa Ana pueblo was concerned that portions of their land fell within the authority boundaries, this bill also addresses these concerns.

FISCAL IMPLICATIONS

The authority will receive additional funds as a result of the annexation of land from Bernalillo County. This will not be realized immediately as an agreement between the Albuquerque Metropolitan Area Flood Control Authority and Southern Sandoval County Flood Control Authority allows for a period of time until new taxes are collected.
