SUMMARY

Synopsis of SFC Amendment

Senate Finance Committee Amendment to Senate Bill 2 clarifies that the amnesty period may occur within fiscal years 2010 and 2011.

Synopsis of Original Bill

Senate Bill 2 appropriates five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) from the general fund to the Taxation and Revenue Department (TRD) for the purpose of conducting a tax amnesty program for taxes and tax acts administered under the Tax Administration Act.

This bill authorizes TRD, with the concurrence of the governor, to declare an amnesty period of no more than 180 days provided that that amnesty period shall occur within the fiscal year 2011. All revenue collected as a result of the tax amnesty shall be identified specifically and reported to the first session of the fifty-first legislature.

The bill also authorizes the secretary of TRD to waive, during the amnesty period, interest and penalty on taxes that were due and not assessed prior to the day amnesty period begins. The amnesty is to be conducted as a managed audit, and the Secretary is authorized to waive certain eligibility requirements of the managed audit program currently available to eligible New Mexico taxpayers.

The amnesty would be available to taxpayers eligible for the current managed audit program, and potentially to taxpayers TRD is currently pursuing for non-filed returns, taxpayers with existing debt, and taxpayers who have been audited in the past who have unreported and unassessed taxes.

The provisions of the Act are repealed effective July 1, 2011.

The bill contains an emergency clause.

FISCAL IMPLICATIONS

The appropriation of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) contained in this bill is a non-recurring expense to the general fund. Any unexpended or unencumbered balance remaining at the end of 2012 shall revert to the general fund.

The estimated revenue is based on:

1. Increased collections during the amnesty,
2. Reduced revenues that would have been collected through regular collection efforts, as well as penalty and interest associated with these revenues,
3. Revenues due to new filers brought into the system through the amnesty, and
4. Reduced revenues that stem from diversion of resources from other collection activities.

The estimated revenue impact, provided by TRD, relies in part on data from, and assumptions regarding, the 1999 amnesty. Approximately 40 percent of collections ($19.2 million) from the 1999 amnesty are assumed to result from unassessed liabilities that meet the requirements of the managed audit program. Of the amount collected, 64 percent occurred during the 1999 amnesty period; the remaining 36 percent occurred during the two-year installment payment period.

To estimate collections of unassessed taxes that would result from the proposed amnesty, the full value of the amount collected during FY99 as well as 20 percent of the amount collected during FY00 and FY01 are adjusted to current values. Although the 1999 amnesty allowed for installment payment agreements, this is not a characteristic of the amnesty proposed by this bill. However, because payment of liabilities assessed during managed audits are typically paid over a period of about one year from application for the managed audit, TRD assumed that 30 percent of revenues resulting from the proposed amnesty are collected during FY11 and the remaining 70 percent are collected during FY12.

A portion of revenues collected in the 1999 amnesty program (an assumed 85 percent) would have been collected even in the absence of an amnesty. Today's improved collection efforts would tend to increase the percent of revenues that would have been collected in the absence of an amnesty. However, because the proposed amnesty covers only unassessed liabilities and is structured as a managed audit, its scope is narrower and thus fewer taxpayers are eligible. TRD therefore, assumed that 60 percent of revenues collected during the proposed amnesty could have been collected via regular collection efforts.

In addition, in the absence of the amnesty and had these taxes been collected through regular collection efforts rather than in the amnesty, interest and penalty would have been collected. Data collected during the 1999 amnesty indicates that penalty and interest that was waived during the amnesty amounted to 56 percent of collections. Because the statutes now impose a lower interest rate than that which was imposed at the time of the 1999 amnesty, TRD estimates that lost penalty and interest would equal 40 percent of collections in the FY2011 amnesty.

These two components of the revenue estimate, taking into account amounts that would otherwise have been collected in managed audits (with no interest or penalty), are distributed over several fiscal years; TRD assumed that 20 percent would have occurred during FY11, 35 percent in FY12, 25 percent in FY2013, 10 percent in FY14, and the remaining 10 percent in subsequent fiscal years.

Additional filers brought into the system by the amnesty would have a positive effect on revenues in FY12 and subsequent years. The amnesty is assumed to bring new filers into the system such that revenues increase by 0.01 percent in FY12 and subsequent fiscal years.

Finally, the amnesty would divert resources away from regular collection and audit activities (TRD estimates 5 percent of resources will be diverted), thereby reducing regular revenue collections by a total of approximately $5.1 million in FY11 and FY12.

It is assumed that 70 percent of the revenue impact will affect the general fund; the remaining 30 percent is assumed to impact other state funds and local governments.

ADMINISTRATIVE IMPLICATIONS

TRD reports that an amnesty program could have an impact to information technology (IT) systems, including GenTax. GenTax would have to be programmed to remove penalty and interest from case files that qualify under the amnesty. The additional administrative costs include promotion or advertising of the amnesty program, postage, and diverted staff time.
