SUMMARY

Synopsis of Bill

At the sponsor's request, SB 368 and HB 369 have been referred to six committees.

Personal Income, Corporate Income Tax, Franchise Tax, Estate Tax

House Bill 369 amends several sections of the tax code. References to income tax, income tax returns, Income Tax Act, corporate income, franchise tax, and estate tax have been deleted.

Section 7-1-12, NMSA 1978, the applicability of the tax administration act, is amended to repeal: 1. The Income Tax Act; 2. The Venture Capital Investment Act; 3. The Estate Tax Act; 4.

The Railroad Car Company Tax Act; and 5. The Corporate Income and Franchise Tax Act.

The bill also repeals the Motor vehicle excise tax and leased vehicle gross receipts tax.

Gross Receipts

A new section of the Gross Receipts and Compensating Tax Act is enacted. The gross receipts tax rate is reduced but expanded.

Section 7-1-6.4 is amended to reduce the municipality gross receipts tax distribution. The quotient is reduced to 0.508 percent (currently 1.225 percent). Sections 7-1-6.16 and 7-1-6.55, county equalization distribution and distribution to municipality equalization, are similarly amended.

This bill also amends the authority of counties and municipalities to impose certain local option gross receipts tax rates.

Section 7-1-8 amends the confidentiality requirements to clarify that the release of information should not violate an agreement between the state and the federal IRS per the Internal Revenue Code.

Section 7-1-14, the taxable gross receipts act, adds all wages, receipts from dividends or interest earned, and all receipts from the sale or lease of oil, gas or mineral interest subject to the gross receipts tax.

The gross receipts tax is reduced to 2.125 percent (currently 5.125 percent) of gross receipts.

The governmental gross receipts tax is reduced to 2.125 percent (currently 5 percent) of gross receipts. An entity licensed by the DOH that is principally engaged in providing health care services is now subject to the governmental gross receipts tax.

The compensating tax is reduced to 2.125 percent (currently 5.125 percent) of the value of tangible property and the value of the services at the time they were rendered.

Unless explicitly stated the following are no longer exempt from the GRT or the compensating tax: governmental agencies, services performed outside the state, certain organizations, certain nonprofit facilities, wages, agricultural products, food stamps, livestock feeding, vehicles, boats, and insurance companies.

In computing the GRT or government GRT due all deductible receipts whether specified as deductible once or several times in the gross receipts and compensating tax act may be deducted only once from the gross receipts or governmental gross receipts. Currently only selected deductions apply.

Municipal GRT

After July 1, 2013 the municipality may no longer impose the supplemental municipal gross receipts tax.

A new section is introduced to limit the rate imposed by all ordinances enacted pursuant to the municipal local option gross receipts not to exceed 0.5 percent. The municipal gross receipts tax is reduced to 0.5 percent (currently 1.5 percent).

Several of the municipal gross receipts taxes are reduced to 0.05 percent (currently 0.0625 percent).

Tax Expenditures: Exemptions, Deductions and Credits

Several exemptions, deductions and credits are being repealed in this bill (identified on page 7).

Other repeals

This bill also repeals the minor league baseball stadium funding act, the municipal event center funding act, the venture capital investment act, and the university athletic facility funding act.

Debt Service

Bonds issued per section 7-19-17 NMSA 1978 will no longer be issued after July 1, 2014. This bill provides for continued repayment of existing debt service obligations.

The effective date of this bill is July 1, 2013 for sections 37, 48 and 68 of the bill. The effective date of this bill is July 1, 2014 for sections 36, 38 through 47, 49 through 67 and 69 through 82.

FISCAL IMPLICATIONS

***The TRD reports that they cannot estimate the impact of the bill due to complexity of changes and timing constraints.

Due to the increasing cost of tax expenditures revenues may be insufficient to cover growing recurring appropriations. Estimating the cost of tax expenditures is difficult. Confidentiality requirements surrounding certain taxpayer information create uncertainty, and analysts must frequently interpret third-party data sources. The statutory criteria for a tax expenditure may be ambiguous, further complicating the initial cost estimate of the expenditure's fiscal impact. Once a tax expenditure has been approved, information constraints continue to create challenges in tracking the real costs (and benefits) of tax expenditures.

SIGNIFICANT ISSUES

A massive overhaul of the state's tax code may require significant changes in reporting and monitoring software by government agencies and in the private sector.

Summary by TRD:

The bill provides for the comprehensive repeal and replacement of numerous, but not all tax programs. The bill is structured around the re-writing of the Gross Receipts & Compensating Tax Act, and eliminates corporate and personal income taxes. As a result, significant modifications of existing statutory language and references are required to implement the intent of the legislation. As an initial observation, it is probably preferable that a comprehensive repeal of the Gross Receipts & Compensating Tax Act be adopted, with a "re-write from scratch" of the intended tax provisions to avoid inconsistencies and unintended consequences. That said, the value of the draft in its current form is to provide a very explicit identification of the intents and purposes of the tax code modifications.

Several summary tax policy observations are important. First, the most fundamental trade-off in scrapping the existing GRT/CIT/PIT tax structure is to substantially lower tax rates and apply that lower rate to a broader tax base. As a result, tax policy issues characterized at tax rates of 5% to 8% may be fundamentally reshaped at a 2% to 2.5% tax rate. By example, a 7% to 8% GRT rate on sales of food is made substantially less regressive at a 2% tax rate. Similarly, the economic effects of tax pyramiding are profoundly different at substantially lower tax rates.

Second, the proposal addresses taxation principles designed to replace state revenue requirements, but does not repeal county and municipal local option GRT tax programs. This will have an important impact to decouple state tax revenue requirements from the independent authority of individual political subdivisions to choose specific tax programs to meet local needs. Such local taxes would build on the state tax revenues streams restated at much lower tax rates.

In retaining a “gross receipts and compensating tax” foundation, an important fact regarding New Mexico is recognized. The magnitude of non-taxable federal and Indian land holdings in the state virtually precludes imposition of property tax as an adequate foundation of governmental revenues. New Mexico is different from most states in this singular attribute.

Finally, the intent of the proposal is to reset the complex social policies that have evolved through individual tax expenditures — eliminating virtually all of the credits, exemptions and deductions that now burden any fairness or equity analysis of state tax policy. In such broad and fundamental tax reform there will be many “winners” as well as “losers.” The foundation of such comprehensive reform must be the recognition, acceptance and commitment to a new tax policy that is required to move New Mexico to a re-visioned economic future.

Tax Reform Proposal — this bill is structured around re-writing the Gross Receipts & Compensation Tax Act to broaden the base of economic transactions subject to taxation. The broader tax base allows the lowering of GRT tax rates to produce equivalent revenues to the state. Implementing this revised tax policy, the reform also eliminates and modifies a number of other tax programs, while retaining a number of existing tax programs.

This bill proposes specific tax rates, but it is understood (from the sponsors) that these are estimated rates that will need to be verified by economic analysis and testing.

Gross receipts tax rates are reduced by 3% to 2.125%, on the premise that the enlarged taxable base will produce the same revenues as currently obtained from taxation. Governmental gross receipts taxes are also reduced by 3% to 2.125%, on the same premise.

Compensating tax rates are reduced by 3% to 2.125%, again on the premise that the enlarged taxable base will produce the same revenues as are currently obtained from taxation.

Table 1 (at the end of the FIR) summarizes the repealed and retained taxes and tax related acts.

Wages, salary, dividends and interests are subject to GRT. Wages are to be earned at the employers “place of business” and are to be reported from that place of business. Persons engaged in investing must identify the “place of business” for dividends or interest earned at the person’s primary place of residence. Taxes withheld on wages shall continue to be withheld by an employer based on withholding tables furnished by TRD based on the approximated GRT liability of taxpayers from wages received, and shall be applied against the taxpayers gross receipt tax liability for the taxable year. The definition of “gross receipts” is expanded to include services performed as an employee for an employer, and dividends and interest received by the taxpayer.

There is created a refund of GRT and compensating tax to taxpayers on wages withheld, based on family size and percentage of federal poverty level (FPL) guidelines that ranges up to 210% of FPL, with the intent to remove the regressivity of the flat percentage taxes on wages. The issues of this regressive tax structure should also recognized that PIT is currently at 4.9% of taxable income, and under the new GRT structure would be taxed at an approximate 2% rate.

Focusing on the changes to personal income tax liability provided by the switch to the GRT tax basis, table 1 (at the end of the FIR) summarizes the adjustment to taxable income provided in the bill.

For persons engaged in the business of selling or leasing oil, gas or mineral interests, the "place of business" is the location of the oil, gas or mineral interests sold or leased, and all receipts from the sale or lease of oil gas or mineral interests are to be reported from that place of business.

The enlarged taxable base would be inclusive of entities licensed by the Department of Health that is principally engaged in providing health care services, including not-for-profit health care enterprises. The GRT base will include money paid for eligible medical expenses from qualified medical care savings accounts, although Federal income tax benefits will continue to accrue to the principal contributed by an employer and the interest earned on a medical care savings account. (No analysis is provided herein of the Affordable Care Act provisions.)

The definition of GRT is expanded to include leased vehicle gross receipts tax payable, amounts received by a New Mexico florist from the sale of flowers, plants or other products that are customarily sold by florists where the sale is made pursuant to orders placed with an out-of-state florist for filling and delivery in New Mexico by a New Mexico florist, but is narrowed to exclude gifts and donations.

A variety of contributions to organizations that have been granted exemption from the federal income tax by the IRS as Section 501(c)(3) organizations will be made subject to taxation. Restrictions on the enforcement of compensating tax are repealed on purchases made 1) if the property is used only for non-business purposes, and 2) the property is not a manufactured home.

There are a number of clarifications provided, particularly where a tax program that is repealed is used as a foundation for another social program (e.g., food stamp eligibility) or liability under the statutes.

The state treasury is required to continue to administer the "Tax Administration Suspense Fund", the "Extraction Taxes Suspense Fund" and the "Workers' Compensation Collections Suspense Fund" for the purpose of making the disbursements authorized by the Tax Administration Act.

Tax Expenditures — Among of the most vexing and challenging components of assessing the current GRT act is evaluating the benefits obtained and costs incurred as a result of the several hundred credits, exemptions and deductions provided by statute and regulatory policies. It is believed that the intent of the bill is to remove (nearly) all tax expenditures, and Table 3 (at the end of the FIR) identifies those that are explicitly identified as repealed by the legislation.

Distributions of Tax Revenues & Local Option Taxes — Distributions of gross receipts and compensating taxes to political subdivisions, as well as county equalization distributions, are not changed, except in the percentage of collected revenues. It is assumed (but not tested) that the distributed revenues are intended to remain the same under the lower percentage rates stated by the legislation.

The provisions for authorization to impose supplemental municipal gross receipts tax for issuance of supplemental municipal gross receipts bonds are sunset on July 1, 2013. Correspondingly, ordinances allowing the issuance of these supplemental gross receipts taxes are repealed upon the repayment of the bonds so issued.

However, these provisions are replaced with the Municipal Local Option Gross Receipts Taxes Act, allowing voter approved ordinances approving taxes that shall not exceed a rate of 0.5% of the gross receipts of any person engaging in business in the municipality, which may be imposed in increments of 0.005%. Similar provisions are provided for Environmental Services Gross Receipts Taxes, Municipal Infrastructure Gross Receipts Taxes, Municipal Capital Outlay Gross Receipts Taxes, Quality of Life Gross Receipts Taxes, Municipal Regional Spaceport Gross Receipts Taxes, Municipal Higher Education Facilities Gross Receipt Taxes, Municipal Federal Water Project Gross Receipts Taxes, and Local Hospital Gross Receipts Taxes.

There is also a reduction in the tax rate percentage allowed for County Indigent Care excise taxes to reflect the enlarged GRT tax base. Similar modifications are made to the County Emergency, County Hospital Emergency, Special County Hospital, County Fire Protection, County Environmental Services, County Health Care, County Infrastructure, County Education, County Capital Outlay, Countywide Emergency Communications and Emergency Medical and Behavioral Health Services, County Regional Transit, County Quality of Life, County Regional Spaceport, County Water and Sanitation, County Business Retention, and County Correctional Facility Gross Receipts Tax authority.

The total excise tax imposed by all ordinances enacted pursuant to the Municipal and County Local Option Gross Receipts Taxes are capped at rates consistent with the expanded tax base.

Additional fiscal impacts may be associated with the elimination of the “hold harmless” payments to municipalities and counties to offset the food and health care practitioner services deductions from GRT.

Various wording changes are required in property tax restrictions to reflect the elimination of the personal income tax provisions that are replaced by the GRT provisions. Similarly, a variety of other administrative programs are adjusted to reflect changes in the basis for taxation.

SLO Comments:

Because the rate of the flat rate gross receipts tax is not set out in the proposed amendments it is not possible to evaluate the impact on SLO lessees.

There are no changes to the telecommunication relay service surcharge and no changes to various taxes under the Oil and Gas Tax Acts or the Copper Production Ad Valorem Tax Act, so there would be less impact on these industries.

YCC Comments:

The YCC's only source of funding is revenue from GGRT. (Calculations will be based on estimated revenue for FY13 of $3.5 million). HB 369 proposes to reduce GGRT collections from the current 5 percent to 2.125 percent. The fiscal impact on YCC could be extensive. If the other changes to the gross receipts tax do not offset the GGRT rate reduction, then instead of an estimated $3.5 million, YCC would receive approximately $1.5 million.

EMNRD Comments:

EMNRD will see a significant reduction in revenue due particularly to the reduction in the GGRT rate. There will also be smaller reductions due to the loss of contributions from the income tax returns. The GGRT revenue for State Parks is also allocated for the repayment of bonds. The reduction in GGRT may result in annual revenue that is less than what is already committed to bond payments.

EMNRD reports negative impacts on several of their programs including: State Parks Division, the Kids n Parks Education Program, and Energy Conservation and Management Program.

ADMINISTRATIVE IMPLICATIONS

There is an extremely high impact on TRD. The CRS tax program will change completely. A new or revised CRS form will be needed. The change would require reprogramming of the GenTax system, and the creation of new returns to claim the credit in Section 36. Several outreach workshops throughout the state to educate businesses and individuals. All publications will need to be revised. An implementation date of January 1, 2014, would not be possible, with all the revisions to forms, publications, etc. that would need to be put in place. For employees, this may entail a completely new annual, semi-annual, quarterly or monthly reconciliation form, which will substitute for the personal income tax form. There would be high education needs for taxpayers and department employees.

TRD also reports a high impact on ITD/GenTax. It involves CRS rate changes to each option level on every location and intensive changes on CRS return to merge personal income tax into gross receipts tax on wages, which include changes on CRS Doc and configuration in GenTax, EDCR, CRSNET and extracting process. Totaling at least 1500 hours.

STO would have to evaluate how the general fund would be affected and whether STO's automated systems can implement the necessary changes. The various governmental entities would have to make a determination whether these changes would affect any programs that are funded through tax monies.

EMNRD reports that many needed capital improvement projects will not be completed resulting in deferred maintenance and failure to provide quality outdoor recreation experiences for approximately 4.5 million visitors annually to State Parks. Other funding alternatives will have to be pursued such as General Fund appropriations to provided funding for projects since there is no other dedicated recurring funding for this purpose.

The move to a flat rate gross receipts tax would impact how withholdings for SLO employees would be calculated. For example, employees would no longer have the benefit of contributing pre-state tax dollars for insurance, medical care savings accounts, and deferred compensation.

TECHNICAL IMPLICATIONS

Section 36, lines 20-21 - allows a New Mexico business who files a gross receipts tax return, to be able to claim the credit even if that business has had no tax withheld from their salary.

OTHER SUBSTANTIVE ISSUES

As reported by TRD, beginning on page 53, Sections 21 and 22, adds new tax practitioner and electronic filing requirements to other tax programs, like CRS. This is a significant change and should be added to the bill short title. Some deductions are being repealed which exist to prevent tax pyramiding.

The following GRT deductions were left in the bill: Sale of tangible personal property or licenses for resale (7-9-47); sales to governmental agencies (7-9-54); transaction in interstate commerce (7-9-55); intrastate transportation and services in interstate commerce (7-9-56); sale of certain services to an out-of-state buyer (7-9-57); sales through world wide web sites (7-9-57.1); sales to state-chartered credit unions (7-9-61.2); uncollectible debts (7-9-67); warranty obligations (7-9-68); administrative and accounting services (7-9-69); rental or lease of vehicles used in interstate commerce (7-9-70); Credit, compensating tax (7-9-79) and services (7-9-79.1); lottery retailer receipts (7-9-87); Credit; gross receipts tax; tax paid to certain tribes (7-9-88.1) Credit; gross receipts tax; tax paid to Navajo Nation on receipts from selling coal (7-9-88.2); sales to certain accredited diplomats and missions (7-9-89); contributions of inventory to certain organizations and governmental agencies (7-9-91).

The following exemptions were left in the bill: Sections receipts subject to certain other taxes (7-9-13.2); governmental agencies; Indians (7-9-14); certain receipts of homeowners associations (7-9-20); fuel subject to certain other taxes (7-9-26); railroad equipment, aircraft and space vehicles (7-9-30).

Section 7-9-43 was left in the bill, however, if the intent is to eliminate all deductions and exemptions, Section 7-9-43 would not be necessary since there would not be a need to address how deductions can be supported.

Does the bill meet the Legislative Finance Committee tax policy principles?

- 1. Adequacy: Revenue should be adequate to fund needed government services.
- 2. Efficiency: Tax base should be as broad as possible and avoid excess reliance on one tax.
- 3. Equity: Different taxpayers should be treated fairly.
- 4. Simplicity: Collection should be simple and easily understood.
- 5. Accountability: Preferences should be easy to monitor and evaluate
